Arctic Brotherhood To Be Northland Order In Future

The Convention of delegates from sixteen subordinate camps of the Arctic Brotherhood, at Douglas, Alaska, on March 14th, voted almost unanimously for the resolution declaring Grand Camp offices vacant and the Convention to be the Grand Camp. The resolution, which follows, was adopted at the morning and at the evening session. Major J. F. A. Strong, of Juneau was elected Grand Arctic Chief; J. M. Tanner, of Skagway, Past Grand Arctic Chief; and C. A. Hopp, of Douglas, Vice Grand Arctic Chief.

RESOLVED, By the Arctic Brotherhood that: First—All offices of the Grand Camp of right ought to be, and the same are hereby declared vacant. Second—

That this convention, by virtue of the power in it vested by the direct mandate of sixteen subordinate camps, should reorganize the Grand Camp in conformation with the fundamental principles of the order; elect all necessary officers thereof; provide for the future meetings of the Grand Camp, and alter or amend the constitution—subject to ratification by two-thirds of the subordinate camps—or that purpose hereby declares itself the Grand Camp of the Arctic Brotherhood with all the powers and control of all property and moneys belonging to same.

Camp Wrangell, No. 28 was ably represented by M. Katzenmeyer and N. J. Syndseth. The next Grand Camp meeting will be held in Juneau July 8th.

Paint Your House

With a paint which will not only protect it from the fiercest weather but will last the longest possible time. Such a paint is SWP. SWP is what most people call Sherwin-Williams Paint (Prepared). It is the most extensively used prepared paint in the world.

SWP does not crack, blister or peel. It has the essential features of a perfect house paint—quality, ease of application and durability. This paint, being finely ground, spreads out easily under the brush and dries with an even, glossy coat.

The most important ingredients of SWP are produced by the Sherwin-Williams Company themselves. This not only lowers the cost of manufacture but insures the absolute purity of the ingredients. The manufacture of SWP is carefully superintended by paint experts. Each paint is made according to one certain formula. The paint is ground finely and mixed thoroughly in electrically-driven machines invented for and used exclusively by the Sherwin-Williams Co.

If you are interested in painting your house with a paint which wears longer and looks better—one which is chemically and scientifically correct, come into our store and we will gladly furnish you with color cards and information concerning the whole Sherwin-Williams line.

Two Believed Lost

Wm. Dougherty and Robert Suace, of Juneau, aged 60 and 28 respectively, are believed to have been lost somewhere between Wrangell and the Taku is the report of Messrs. Tyers, Harris and Boots, of the gasboat Kloooh. The crew of the Kloooh, recently down from Juneau to fish in waters nearby to Wrangell, helped the pair, who were making the trip in a 22-ft. sealing bot, across the Taku and loaned them a skiff to use the remainder of the journey. The Kloooh has been in twice to see if Dougherty and Suace had arrived here and to get the skin but they have not made port as yet and as the boats came across the Taku about a month ago, the crew of the Kloooh fear the pair may have been caught in a storm and wrecked. The sealing boat was equipped with a motor and carried a small sail but the motor was giving trouble when they crossed the windy Taku.

Schedule Issued For West Coast Boats

The schedule for the sailing from Seattle of the Curacao and Delhi has been issued by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company and call for alternate sailing of the boats on the 5th, 15th, and 25th of each month commencing with the sailing of the Curacao next Tuesday and running up to December 5th. The ports of calling as required are, Ketchikan, Sulzer, Rose Inlet, Holbrook, Burnett, Howkan, Wrangell, Tokene, Point Ellis, Port Armstrong, Kake, Killisnoo, Cape Edward, Hawk Inlet, Sitkoh Bay, Juneau, Petersburg and others calls will be made if business justifies.

The Caracao is to carry freight and passengers and the Delhi freight and combustibles only.

NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the regular election for the Town of Wrangell, Alaska, will be held on Tuesday, April 1st, 1913, and at which time there will be elected seven (7) Common Councilmen who will serve for one year and one member of the Wrangell School Board (a Treasurer) who will serve for a period of three years.

The polling place for the municipal election will be in the Council Building, Church Street, Wrangell, Alaska and will be open at 9 o'clock A. M. and remain open until 7:30 o'clock P. M. of said day.

By order of the Common Council of the Town of Wrangell, Alaska, made on the 6th day of March, 1913.

J. E. WORDEN,
Town Clerk.

Chamber of Commerce Elect Officers. Adopt By-laws Tonight

At the meeting of the Wrangell Chamber of Commerce at the Town Hall last Thursday evening permanent officers for the organization. When nominations were called for by temporary chairman, J. E. Worden, several names were placed in nomination but the owners of the names immediately and almost unanimously declined. Unlike the supposed fashion that follows the inauguration of a new President when all good people are seeking office, everyone seemed fighting to keep out and candidates were getting scarce when oil was poured upon the troubled waters by a proposal from one of the candidates that all declarations be withdrawn and they be voted upon by ballot. This the candidates agreed to do and on the second balloting Leo McCormack was declared electen. Similar difficulties in lesser degrees attended the election of the other officers but the lists were finally filled by the successful election of G. H. Barnes as Vice-president, F. Matheson, Treasurer, and H. Dawes, Secretary.

After hearing the report of the committee on exploiting the Stikine Route to the Silver Creek diggings was heard and acted upon and a committee on by-laws appointed, the meeting was adjourned to Tuesday evening this week.

At Tuesday evening, the committee on by-laws reported favorable to the adoption of the rules which governed the former Wrangell Chamber of Commerce but owing to the small attendance the formal adoption was postponed for tonight's meeting which every member should attend. M. Katzenmeyer enrolled as a member at Tuesday's meeting making a total of forty-five.

Princess Boats On Summer Schedule

With the sailing of the Princess May Monday the summer schedule of the C. P. R. boat was resumed. Reports from the south Saturday were that the May's accommodations were all sold out on account of the influx of prospectors stimulated by the recent placer strike. One of the passengers from Victoria, an old timer in the Cassiar, has telegraphed ahead for a dog-team and will go up the Stikine. He has been in the Teslin region and could not be persuaded to take any other than the Stikine trail.

Mushing Up Stikine

Chas. Vance, H. O. Ford, Chas. Olson and J. Lrovet with native guide and dog-teams started their journey to the interior over the Stikine ice Tuesday. Chas. Roos took the party to the mouth of the Stikine and was accompanied by J. Mantle and J. Worden, who secured photographs of the party as they started out.

Doings of the Legislators

The first bill to pass either house is the suffrage bill introduced by Rep. Shoup giving Alaska women the right to vote.

Eight-hour bills regulating underground labor have been introduced in each house.

Delegte Wickersham addressed an informal joint session March 10.

The Alaska solons were entertained by the Commercial Club at a smoker on the evening of March 10th.

Bills have been introduced in the Senate prohibiting lobbying, take mining companies and taking of fish by aliens.

A public hearing was given Saturday by the Senate committee on Labor and Immigration relative to the eight-hour law.

Rep. Svindseth, of Wrangell, introduced House bills Nos. 11 and 12 Saturday to abolish fish traps and prevent aliens fishing in Alaska waters.

Soap Scraps.

Put your small pieces of soap in a little bag and toss it in the wash boiler. When the washing is completed the undissolved pieces will still be in the bag for the next washday, instead of on the linen, where they are sure to make scorch places when ironed.

The Alhambra.

The ancient home of Spain's Moorish kings, the Alhambra at Granada, built in 1273, is falling to ruin. Eight of its magnificent towers were destroyed by the French many generations ago.

Parrots in India.

Parrots are bought in India to spend a large part of their time repeating the names of gods, and such a spokesman brings a great price, especially among business men, who imagine that, by owning such a parrot, their spiritual treasures are accumulating while they attend to their usual occupations.

Wool Waste.

All efforts to find a substitute for wool waste in the capacity of packing for the journal box of a railroad car have been unsuccessful.

Patagonia Panthers.

The panther on the plains of Patagonia gets as near a herd of guanaco as it can, then lies down behind a bush on its back. It puts one paw up in the air, then another, then the third and fourth and after a bit all four at once. That seems curious to the guanacos, and they come close to investigate. A jump the panther and lights on the nearest one's back and breaks its neck.

Extreme Penalty in Italy.

Capital punishment was abolished in Italy in 1888.

Iron and Rust.

Experiments made in Germany respecting the protection of iron from rust by paint prove that one coat of paint is more efficacious than two or three, as a single coat is more elastic and less liable to scale off or crack, and thus affords more protection from atmospheric influences.

Why Dreams Come True.

There is a scientific explanation of the fact that illness, at least, can be foretold in dreams. The theory is that when a man is dreaming his mind is more sensitive than in his waking hours, for the simple reason that his actual surroundings are not engaging any of the mind's attention. Thus it happens that when some disease has set in the man awake does not feel it in its earliest stages, although the active mind in a sleeping body does feel it. The sleeper dreams, let us say, that he is suffering some complaint of the leg, and two or three days later, the disease having developed, he finds that he really has got a bad attack of rheumatism. Harvey, who discovered the circulation of the blood, records having had a dream in which a bee stung him in his left thigh, on a place where a couple of days later appeared an ugly ulcer. The ulcer must have been developing, of course, at the time of the dream, but what the man in full consciousness could not perceive the man with only an active mind—i. e., dreaming—easily notices.

The Worm That Turned.

The power of discipline and precedent in the army cannot be appreciated by civilians. At a two company post in the west some years ago a captain of infantry was in command, as his commission was of older date than that of the captain of cavalry also there. The two captains hate each other, but, of course, preserved the usual amenities in official intercourse. One day the senior captain ordered the junior to take a file of men to the forest and cut the firewood needed for winter. This duty ordinarily would have been given to a sergeant, but the junior captain had no recourse and was obliged to obey. Just as he got outside the post the mail, which came only at intervals of a week or more, arrived, and the cavalry captain stopped for letters. One of these brought him his commission as major. He at once issued an order taking command of the post and another assigning the wood chopping duty to the late commandant.

"Not One Cent For Tribute."

The copper piece with the legend, "Millions for defense, not one cent for tribute," is not a coin at all, but a medal commemorating our troubles with France during the Napoleonic wars. Resenting our Jay treaty with Great Britain, made while George Washington was president, and angry because we would not take sides in those wars, France in 1797 began to attack our merchant ships, and we came very near becoming involved in war with her. We sent a commission over to try to arrange the trouble, and the French prime minister, Talleyrand, gave them to understand we could arrange it only by paying a bribe or making a loan to the French government. To this it was said that Charles Cotesworth Pinckney of South Carolina, a member of our commission, replied in the words quoted on the medal. This he denied, however, his reply being simply, "No, no, not not one sixpence!"

Singular Use For Bread.

Bread is used for many purposes, but the most singular use may be seen in some of the great watch factories. More than forty loaves of fresh bread are required each day in one such factory. It appears that from the earliest times in the history of watchmaking it has been the custom of watchmakers to reduce fresh bread to the form of dough by steaming and kneading. They use this dough for removing oil and chips that naturally adhere in the course of manufacture to pieces as small as the parts of a watch. The oil is absorbed by the dough and the chips stick to it, and there is no other known substance which can be used as a whet without leaving some small portion attached to the thing wiped.

Alpine Climbers.

In the earlier part of the nineteenth century many even of those who had been up Alpine peaks themselves denounced the sport. Regarding the ascent of Mont Blanc, Murray's Handbook in the year 1828 stated that "all who have succeeded have advised no one to attempt it" and nearly twenty years later noted the "remarkable fact that a large proportion of those who have made this ascent have been persons of unsound mind."

The Family Game.

Mother coming into the children's room, Rosie, what are you making such a terrible noise over? Look at Hugo. See how quiet he sits there. Rosie: Yes, it's easy for him to sit quiet in the game we are playing. He is papa, who has come home late, and I am you. Berlin Journal.

Made a Difference.

"I told Maude that Jack was simply crazy to marry her, and she took offense."
"Why was that?"
"Don't know, unless it was that when I said it they had just been married!"

CRAIG SPECIALS

Craig Miller will have charge of the mild-curing and cold-storage plant here this season.

Mr. Elliot manager of the Lindenberg plant was called to Seattle this week and left on the Uncle Dan enroute to Ketchikan.

Craig Miller went to Ketchikan Sunday, leaving on the Uncle Dan for Sulzer and the Portage.

The West Coast Lumber Company has started up again and is busy getting out orders for the new mild-curing station that are to be opened up here this spring.

Steamboats are certainly scarce these days. There has none been in here for over a month and we will soon be existing on canned goods entirely.

A very enjoyable dance was given by the ladies of Craig Saturday evening. Mrs. Cole and son Earl, of Klawack, attended.

Strike Looks Better

Carmack Goes North

On board the Steamer Jefferson last Thursday night "Skookum Jim" Mason, his daughter and old Klondike partner, Geo. Carmack, passed through on their way to Mason's home at Carcross, eventually to go in to the new digging at the headwaters of the Teslin River. A number of prospectors from the Sound were aboard also bound for the new diggings.

Seattle dispatches at the time of the Jefferson's departure were to the effect that the party would stop off at Wrangell to go inside via the Stikine Route but the reports were unfounded as they continued north to Carcross.

At Juneau, while the boat was in port, an exchange says that the town showed considerably excitement, several experienced prospectors with dog-teams and outfits boarding the steamer prepared to follow the fortune-favored veterans to any diggings they might locate.

Nahlin Will Be A Stern-wheeler

The tunnel-stern river-boat, Nahlin, built in Wrangell last spring from a Geary design, is being enlarged and converted into a stern wheeler to be equipped with a 125 h. p. Eastern Standard. The Nahlin was used with varied success on the Stikine last season and her accomplishments were such that it was decided to enlarge the boat and change the type. Mr. Neill has deferred building the west coast boat and has started work on the Nahlin.
